

The aim of Queen of the South Football Club's Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Policy is to promote our own objectives and in doing so help ensure that everyone is treated fairly and with respect. Our Club is equally accessible to all within the workplace, local community and beyond. Football is for everyone. It belongs to and should be enjoyed by anyone who wants to participate in it, whether as a player, official, staff member, volunteer, or spectator.

Our Equality Policy is fully supported by the Board of Queen of the South Football Club, with Chairman William Hewitson who is responsible for the implementation of the policy. Queen of the South Football Club will ensure that it treats everyone fairly and with respect and that it will provide access and opportunities for all members of the community to take part in, and enjoy, its' activities. The Club will strive to exercise and demonstrate a zero tolerance to approach to harassment and unfair treatment. Every staff member, Board member, official, spectator, fan and visiting team can be assured of an environment in which their rights, dignity and individual worth are respected, and in particular that they are able to work and watch football in an environment without the threat of intimidation, victimisation, harassment or abuse.

Relevant Legislation and Forms of Unacceptable Discrimination

Discrimination has been legally defined through a series of legislative acts, including the Race Relations Act, the Sex Discrimination Act, the Disability Discrimination Act and the Equality Act 2006. In April 2010, the Equality Act 2010 received Royal Assent. The Equality Act 2010 is a law which harmonises where possible, and in some cases extends, protection from discrimination.

Discrimination refers to unfavourable treatment on the basis of particular characteristics, which are known as the 'protected characteristics'. Under the Equality Act 2010, the protected characteristics are defined as age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race (including ethnic and national origin and colour), religion or belief, sex (gender) and sexual orientation.

Forms of discrimination and discriminatory behaviour include the following:

Direct discrimination which can be described as less favourable treatment on the grounds of one of the protected characteristics.

Indirect discrimination which occurs when a provision, criterion or practice is applied to an individual or group that would put persons of a particular characteristic at a particular disadvantage compared with other persons.

Discrimination arising from disability, which is when a disabled person is treated unfavourably because of something connected with their disability and this unfavourable treatment cannot be justified.

Harassment, which is defined as unwanted conduct relating to a protected characteristic that has the purpose or effect of violating a person's dignity, or which creates an intimidating or hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person.

Victimisation It is unlawful to treat a person less favourably because he or she has made allegations or brought proceedings under the anti-discrimination legislation, or because they have helped another person to do so.

Bullying, which is defined as a form of personal harassment involving the misuse of power, influence, or position to persistently criticise, humiliate or undermine an individual.

Positive Action and Training

Queen of the South Football Club is committed to equality inclusion and anti-discrimination. The Club will commit to a programme of raising awareness and educating and investigating concerns. We will apply relevant and proper sanctions, campaign for widening diversity and representation and promote diverse role models, which we believe are all key actions to promote inclusion and eradicate discrimination within football. This Equality Policy will be reviewed and updated, if required, on an annual basis.
